THE MONONGAH VERDICT AND MINE LAW REVISION.

The verdict of the inquest inquiring into the Monongah mine disaster is far from being conclusive. The jury complains that the testimony of witnesses expert and otherwise was contradictory, but its own conclusion may be criticized by the witnesses for a similar reason. It is hard to conceive how an explosion of powder alone could have wrecked a large mine operation and killed so many men unless there was a powder mill located in the midst of the mine, and there is no such evidence.

The verdict is more elaborate as to recommendations than it is as to the chief subject of inquiry. These recommendations are excellent, but not new. Before they were known at least two of them were being acted on, namely: 1. Federal inquiry; and 2. The use of safety or flameless powder instead of the common black powder hitherto used in the Monongah mine. Congressman Huff, Chairman of the House Mines Committee, has secured the passage of a resolution giving his committee full power to make thorough investigations of the recent mine disasters and to report a remedial bill. The Pittsburgh district coal operators have called a convention to consider how best to prevent mine explosions, but before consultation it is agreed that a flammable or flameless powder must be substituted for black powder in blasting coal.

The Pittsburgh operators seem to think the requirement will be difficult of enforcement because of the unwillingness of the miners to use such a powder, it not being so explosive and so effective as the black powder. The indignation is rather gratuitous. Let the miners have a chance, and let them also understand that they must obey the mining laws as well as the operators.

Some of the coke operators of the Conneltsville region hold to the view that the present Pennsylvania mining laws are complete enough in itself to protect life and property if it is enforced. Possibly so, but there will be no harm in its careful consideration, if for no other purpose than providing more effective means of enforcing the law. It must be remembered, also, that the Conneltsville region operators are now disputing the interpretation of the Pennsylvania mining laws in one particular at least. That particular bears vitally upon the powder question. It is the practice of "shoot the solid." This matter should be definitely determined.

There is another mine inquest coming which may develop further questions for legislative consideration. The coming mining legislation should be free from passion, prejudice and haste. It should be well and carefully considered with a view the enactment of all necessary requirements to safety on reasonable and equitable lines.

HIGH AND LOW FAYETTE COUNTY JUSTICE.

District Attorney Henderson is making a practical effort to keep petty cases out of court. He has appealed to the Justices of the Peace of Fayette county to assist in this good work instead of promoting the evils complained of either knowingly or unwittingly. In his circular to the Justices, he says:

Very often, a defendant upon being arrested, will waive a hearing and give bail for court. This most frequently occurs in the criminal and civil cases in which both parties are equally anxious to get into court. While you cannot prevent a defendant from giving bail, you can prevent a hearing. The part of the defendant, you can and should advise him that as a matter of right he should demand a hearing. Because an information is made against a defendant, it does not follow that he should be held for court. The preliminary hearing is for the purpose of determining, in the opinion of the justice, whether or not the Commonwealth has sufficient reliable and satisfactory proof of the defendant's guilt of the offense charged as would warrant his being held for court. In other words, the Commonwealth should make out a prima facie case against the defendant before he should be required to appear in court and answer the charge against him. If he cannot do this, the case should be discharged.

The District Attorney admits that the justice cannot prevent the defendant in a petty case from waiving a hearing and giving bail for court. This being the law, the justice may not criticize a justice whose return discloses this fact. As to those returns that show a preliminary hearing and holding to bail upon evidence submitted, it

THE ANT AND THE GRASSHOPPER STORY AGAIN.
The World—I'd like to help you, Fritz, but I can't get at my pocket book very well.
The $75,000,000 loan required by the German Government to pay current expenses of State may be a failure owing to the financial conditions throughout the world.—News Item.

This is done in good faith and upon sufficient testimony, the Justice has done his duty; but he should be careful that the evidence is sufficient, and he is invited by the District Attorney to consult with him when in doubt as to this or any other matters concerning the particular case under consideration.

It may sometimes happen that witnesses who testified before the Justice may be absent from court or may testify differently. The Court should assume that the testimony was sufficient before and should not criticize and humiliate the Justice unless the evidence plainly disproves this assumption. The rules should be the same in the administration of the High, the Middle and the Low Justice. In the meantime, the suggestions of the District Attorney are timely and instructive.

BLOODHOUNDS FOR THE BOROUGH.

The proposition of the Chief of Police, that Conneltsville borough invest in a couple of bloodhounds to assist in running down and capturing the burglars that infest the community, is not entirely new or wholly without merit.

While the evidence of the canine tribe is not necessarily conclusive, experience has shown that it is decidedly helpful in many cases. The bloodhound is incapable of knowing the nature of an oath, or of taking one if he knew its solemn character, or of testifying in any other manner than by dumb show, and even then doubtfully; but the animal's scent is abnormal and it can track the footsteps of man when man even though a policeman cannot. If the four-footed sleuth follows accurately and locates certainly, there are always corroborative circumstances within reach of discovery. It is up to the police to do the rest.

The suggestion of the Chief is worthy of consideration. Unless the persistent robberies cease, the authorities are in daily danger of being overwhelmed by the volume of the robber gang, and the employment of dumb detectives.

If it is worth $8,000 to sell a $48,000 cash plant when times are good, how much commission should an agent receive for selling coke when the coke is a popular currency? Respectfully referred to the Coke Producers' Association.

The Open Door may be all right, but the Open Gate should be looked upon with the eyes of suspicion.

The Fayette county courts are trying to impress upon the minds of miners that the mine laws are made for them as well as for others. The lesson cannot be too seriously impressed.

The Morton will case is not over if we may judge it by one of like character, it is just beginning. The lawyers must live.

The habit of arresting people on suspicion should be exercised with much care and judgment by the police. The practice is not sanctioned by the laws of the land.

Scottsdale is having its share of fires lately, but the borough has a good fire department.

Unseasonable winter weather brings a train of trouble from townspeople disordered by violent winds, but the town council's skating tragedy is particularly not to say shocking. Conneltsville's first official duty was personally most painful.

The smoke of resuming industry is curling skyward again without the aid or consent of political politicians.

The Washington woman who asks for a divorce because her husband has failed for twenty years ought to have it without undue delay. "This offense is rank. It smells to heaven."

The disappearance of the borough's grapple hooks is only another instance of countless cases of borough property more to the fact that there is no need responsibility for its care than to any other reason.

Congressman Cooper is doing a rushing pension business.

Judge Ewing's vacant seat on the Federal bench didn't get cold. The hour didn't have to go begging, nor by the same token did it beguile Senator Knox's hour time to make up his mind when to endorse.

The demand of the Somerset county coal operators for the low-level tracking of the Somerset branch doesn't have a hard-time sound.

VETERANS' RANKS THINNING FAST.

EIGHT OF CHARTER LIST GONE

The Post Now Has Thirty Nine Members in Good Standing—Several Years Ago the Post Abolished All Dues and Assessments

SMITHFIELD, Jan. 16.—Some idea of the rapidly thinning ranks of the Civil War veterans can be gathered from a list taken from the roster of Jerry Jones Post No. 511, Department of Pennsylvania, G. A. R. of this place. Since the organization of this Post October 25, 1881, 91 members have been added to the rolls either by muster or transfer from other Posts. Of this number 24 have died. This number is the known total of who the Post has a record. Eighty-one of the thirty-nine members joining the Post and have been out of communication with the Post. Some of these are in all probability dead.

The charter contains 13 names: James Abraham, I. M. Abraham, James S. Robert, Jacob R. Jarrett, John Sutton, John L. Moser, David Williams, George T. Lewis, H. C. Huber, A. J. Thompson, William A. T. Hays, George W. Hunter, John C. Hitchin, Samuel L. Shock, William B. Hicks, Samuel A. Conn, Henry O. Vell, Nelson Shifer and Harrison Aderson. The first eight named have answered to the last roll call and the most recent. He buried in cemeteries near the place of early abode in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. J. P. S. Golia was Department Commander when the Post was instituted and his signature appears on the charter as co-signer of Thomas J. Stewart as Assistant Adjutant General.

The Post has 29 members in good standing now on their rolls, and these are never get in bad standing, several years ago the Post abolished all dues and assessments. All it costs a member to join is to produce a honorable discharge from service in the Civil War, $1 must be paid and 40 cents for a badge. The Post is now a small body, but it is still a very important one to the community. It is the only one of its kind in the county. The field from which to recruit its ranks is limited, but there is a still some without the fold. It invites these to join and help keep the camp fire burning to the end that justice may be done the living and the memory of their comrades gone before kept ever bright.

Three of the 21 members are 75 years of age and two are 70. The youngest member is 60 years old. The average age is 67 1/2 years.

COMIN' THRO' THE RYE.

Delightful Musical Comedy to Be Presented at the New Soloson Saturday

There are decidedly substantial reasons for a theatrical performance of the musical comedy "Comin' Thro' the Rye." It is presented at the New Soloson theatre, Saturday matinee and night. Whatever this production has been seen it has made a hit of that positive and undisturbed kind. This is proven by the fact that upon its return to the stage, the theatre has been sold out in advance. Sentimental comedies have frequently been shown in this city and their success is the only one understood by the local patrons of the theatre. An number of instances may be cited where unknown productions have come along and played to magnificent audiences.

JANUARY SALES AT THEIR HEIGHT

Never in the history of Fayette County Merchandising have prices on dependable merchandise been brought to the low point that now rules the selling of every remaining item in this big establishment. Stocks in January were never as large as now, local trade conditions and recent monetary stringency coupled with our buying, which was not in the least curtailed but on the contrary almost prodigal in the face of panicky trade conditions; have made our stocks the largest and therefore the most desirable to choose from in this section of the country.

We've never in the history of our merchandising cut prices to the point that we now quote. It is a matter of vital importance that we clear our stocks of all surplus, previous to inventory.

For this reason we have spared no effort to accomplish a clearance that will be complete.

We have spared no expense in giving this sale the widest possible publicity. Forty thousand people will read of these lowest of prices. We haven't space here to publish a list of the price-cuts but tell you emphatically that every article in this establishment is now priced at the lowest possible point, with stocks as complete as at present, and if you have a need (and most of us have) this is the logical time to supply it.

A purchase made at this time not only affords you a radical saving right now but it materially assists us in our purpose of serving you with bright, clean, new stocks all through the coming year. A dual advantage.
